

Save the date of Tuesday, July 17th for this summer's Weston performance of Play With Your Food. Beginning at noon, the always sold out program includes 3 provocative one-act plays read by professional actors and a boxed lunch catered by Peter's Market. After a short discussion with the actors, and sometimes a playwright or two, everyone goes back to work. It's an opportunity for people to gather over lunch, and then enjoy stimulating short plays by both award-winning and emerging playwrights. This year's plays include:

Jets* by Fred Stroppel starring Kim Squires and Allan Zeller

This play is written by Play With Your Food favorite playwright Fred Stroppel, author of last summer's Pillow. The cast will be the hilarious Kim Squires as slightly over the top sports fan and Allan Zeller, her husband, as her husband. We'd love to hear what the audience has to say about this new play..

I Didn't Know You Could Cook* by Rich Orloff starring Damian Long and Sean Hannon

Rich Orloff writes a whole world into a one act play. Damian Long, teacher and director of shows at Weston High School; and Weston's Sean Hannon (from last summer's Civilization) play brothers with some unique issues to address ..

Almost Maine* by John Cariani starring Cindy Hannon

This play presents a whimsical, approach to the joys and perils of romance under the Northern Lights. Cindy Hannon, an accomplished actress who lives in Wilton, plays the woman in search of her heart.. in more ways than one.

The Friends of the Weston Public Library is underwriting a substantial portion of the performance. Tickets are $25 per person including lunch and checks can be dropped off at the Library with your lunch selection: chicken salad, roasted vegetables, or ham and cheese. The event begins at noon and ends at approximately 1:30.
